Free Crochet Amigurumi Bear Pattern for Beginners

A simple stuffed bear built from the same shaping as our mini ball pattern, with four limbs and rounded ears added on.

Updated 2026 • US terms • About 6in / 15cm tall

This bear scales up the same increase-and-decrease shaping from our mini amigurumi ball pattern into a full body, head, and four limbs. It's a bigger project than our other amigurumi patterns, but every individual piece uses the same simple technique repeated.

Toy safety note: for children under 3, embroider the face with yarn instead of using plastic safety eyes. Stitch all seams tightly and check periodically for wear. See the FAQ below for more detail.

MATERIALS

- 1–2 skeins worsted-weight yarn (about 80–100 yards)
- 3.5mm hook (smaller than standard, for tight amigurumi stitches)
- Polyester fiberfill stuffing
- Safety eyes, or embroidery thread for a child-safe embroidered face
- Stitch marker, to track the start of each round

- Scissors and a yarn needle

ABBREVIATIONS (US TERMS)

ABBR.	MEANS

st(s)	Stitch(es)

 Crochet hook with yarn for amigurumi shaping

GAUGE

Gauge isn't critical — the goal is tight, even stitches that hide the stuffing. If you can see stuffing through your stitches, try a smaller hook.

NOTES

- Written in US terms, worked in a continuous spiral, same technique as our mini amigurumi ball pattern.
- Made from five separate pieces (head, body, 2 arms, 2 legs, 2 ears) sewn together at the end.
- For a child under 3, skip plastic safety eyes and embroider the face instead.

ASSEMBLY

Sew the body to the bottom of the head using the tails from each. Sew the two ears onto the top of the head, and the two arms and two legs onto the body, checking placement is even before securing each with small, tight stitches. Attach safety eyes before stuffing the head if using them, or embroider a simple face with yarn once assembly is complete for a child-safe alternative.

Frequently asked questions

Is this amigurumi bear pattern safe for young children?

For children under 3, embroider the facial features with yarn instead of using plastic safety eyes, since even securely attached safety eyes carry some small-parts risk for very young children.

How long does an amigurumi bear take to make?

Including the head, body, and four limbs, most beginners finish this bear over two to three sessions, roughly 3 to 4 hours of total crochet time plus assembly.

How do I attach the limbs to an amigurumi body?

Sew each limb on with the tail left from finishing it, using a yarn needle and small, tight stitches around the entire attachment point rather than just a few anchor points.
